

Terms & Conditions

Effective Date: 12 Oct 2024

These Terms & Conditions govern your use of Codekshun services. By engaging with our services, you agree to the following terms:

Service Payments

All payments made for our services are non-refundable. Once a payment is received, we will not offer any refunds under any circumstances.

Request for Redo

If you are not satisfied with the service provided, you may request a redo. However, this will incur additional charges depending on the scope and effort required to make the adjustments.

Delivery Timeline and Extensions

While we strive to deliver our products and services on time, there may be delays due to various factors such as:

- Development bugs or complexities.
- Changes in project ideas or technical requirements.
- Issues related to programming languages or frameworks.

In such cases, no refund will be provided, and additional time may be required to complete the service.

Intellectual Property

All deliverables and intellectual property created by Codekshun remain the property of Codekshun until full payment is received. Upon full payment, ownership will be transferred to the client.

Liability

Codekshun is not liable for any indirect, incidental, or consequential damages arising from delays, project bugs, or technical challenges encountered during service delivery.

Amendments to Terms

Codekshun reserves the right to modify these terms at any time. Changes will be posted on our website and will become effective immediately.

For any inquiries regarding these terms, please contact us at info@codekshun.com.